Fred Cornell's 74 Leads SIGA Junior Tournament

Zerega, Finnerty Share Midget Medal with 84s

By FRANK HANNIGAN

The ever-increasing appeal of golf for Island youngsters was vividly demonstrated yesterday at the Silver Lake course where a record entry of 148 boys under 18 years of age, vied for qualifying spots in the Staten Island Golf Association's Spring Junior and Midget Tournaments.

When the firing had ceased, and SIGA officials had wearily pencilled in the last of 2,664 individual hole-by-hole accountings, Fred Cornell emerged as the day's finest scorer. The burly 16-year-old Richmond Country Club caddy was the medalist in the Junior section with a 74, five over par.

In the Midget flight, restricted to boys not yet 15 years old, the medal was shared by Charles Zerega and Joseph Finnerty. Both carded 84, three strokes ahead of the balance of the field. Ninety entries were recorded among the Juniors; 58 among the Midgets.

The match play phase of the tournament starts today. Two rounds are scheduled in order to cut the survivors in both flights to eight by the day's end. Two more rounds tomorrow will set the stage for the finals Thursday.

CORNELL, a member of the St. Peter's High School team, earned his medal with nines of 36 and 38. Nine consecutive pars—starting on the fourth hole—were instrumental in his triumph. Cornell, who didn't card anything higher than a bogie, copped a one-day CYO Junior Invitation Tournament in Westchester County last summer with a 76.

Right behind Cornell in the qualifying play was Quinlan Sullivan, a protege of former South Shore pro Gary Clifford. Sullivan, the reigning local CYO champion, had the day's best back nine, a one-over par 36. Only a bogie on the difficult par-three 16th stopped him from matching par.

Four other players managed to crack 80. Steve Zuntag was in with 76 while Dennis Buckley scored 77. Dudley Selznick and Don Olson matched 78s. Olson, one of the strong pre-tourney favorites, was the runner-up in this event last spring.

Two former Midget champions were well up among the Junior qualifiers. Ken Wonsowicz, who has an excellent reputation at match play, scored 81. Pete Falson, 1959 Midget titlist, was right back of Wonsowicz with his 82.

The youngest competitor in the event was nine-year-old Kevin Collins whose 18-hole tally of 165 was by no mean's the day's highest. Young Mr. Collins, who has five more years of competition before he outgrows the Midget ranks, is almost certain to be a contender by then.

Majeski Speaks At St. Ann's

Hank Majeski, former major league baseball player, will be the guest tonight at 8 o'clock at a meeting of the Father's Club of St. Ann's R. C. Church in the school hall, Dongan Hills.

Bill Lee was in charge of planning for the program.

Majeski, besides speaking briefly, will also show World Series movies. Representatives of various Island Little Leagues are expected to attend and boys seven years of age and over will be welcome with their dads to this father-son event.

Refreshments will be served under John Hagen's direction. Jeremiah Kolay is president of the unit.
